No. 4

TO THE SCOUTMASTER

What does Esperanto offer for the Boy Scout? Does it offer enough to make it worth while and is it interesting enough to attract and hold his interest? This is a question more than one Scoutmaster has asked himself; with the international spread of the Scout movement it grows ever more frequent. Let us explain where we fit in.

This week we have read: "There are approximately 10,000,000 boys in the United States between the ages of twelve and twenty-one. Of these only 375,000 are enrolled as members of the Boy Scouts of America.

"America cannot acquit herself commensurately with her power and influence in the great period now facing her and the world unless the boys of America are given better opportunities than heretofore to prepare themselves for the responsibilities of citizenship.

"Every nation depends for its future upon the proper training and development of its youth. The American boy must have the best training and discipline our great democracy can provide if America is to maintain her ideals, her standards and her influence in the world."

Scout activity is a development of the man in the boy by the boy's own chosen methods. In many ways and for many boys it is better than the teaching of the school. Discipline self-instilled; "the gang" become a troop; above all, self-chosen ideals; who can point to better moral results indoors? There is but one objection raised—that the military glamour is enhanced; an attitude of mass action without individual judgement infused; a chauvinistic patriotism. It is for that reason that we find in the treaty to be imposed upon Germany a prohibition of boy scouts; no careful thinker wishes to see develop a new crop of cannon-fodder." Right here Esperanto can step in.

The national viewpoint is constantly being rectified and appreciated by comparison with and adoption from the views of the rest of the world, if one scout reads of and writes to boy scouts of another culture. Not merely a militarist for his nation alone, the scout fired with the ideal of Esperantism grows into a crusader for world good. Spiritual battles are worth winning as well as physical ones. This we have placed first because it seems to us the highest gift Esperanto offers to the Scout movement.

Mentally, the Scout learns to fully use eye, ear, and hand; his ability "to do things" is a community asset sorely needed, yet little obtained by the school. In fact, what the school does not supply the Scoutmaster should aim at. For the ordinary boy before he becomes a wage-earner at 14 or 16, the school supplies no window to the world mind. Before even a single alien literature is open, the school demands (and rightly) an extensive drill in the home idiom; thereafter years must be given to memorizing grammar and vocabulary, often dead tongues ere the first live one is acquired.* This may be a fit mind developer for the scholars-to-be, but is it not a manifest absurdity for the Scout who leaves school at 14? Esperanto furnishes a window. Thru that window the Scout can look out to Finnland, Japan, Russia, the whole world. Conversely, thanks to that window, the intricacies of grammar, the home grammar, stand revealed. An hour or two to read thru and "get on to" the grammar of Esperanto, ten hours to read simple Esperanto, and the Scout owns a new tongue, and can read in it. Every tenth word will have to be looked up, no doubt, for some time longer. One hundred hours spent on reading (e.g. the Ekzercaro) and memorizing of correlatives, affixes and roots will give fluency of translation and understanding. Another hundred hours practice in reading and speaking, and the Scout will be a fluent translator into Esperanto and a user of Esperanto capable of conversing with any Esperantist from Persia, or China, or Bolivia. The 200 hours for learning all Esperanto is the time assigned in most schools to learning the grammar alone of any foreign language.

Can this work be made interesting to the Scout? It can hardly be made uninteresting. The boy has a natural attraction to that mysterious and secret something, another language. When from the start he builds his own words, the work—no! the play is as enthralling as a picture puzzle. When he can write letters—illustrated post cards they will be at first—to Norway and Mexico and Greece and read the answers that come back and translate them to other Scouts, do you believe any boy will hold back? No, not unless you have forgotten your own boy nature and are out of touch with the boy soul.

How can the assertions made above be proved? We might quote authorities who have made the experiment, but of course they would be Esperantists; if not Esperantists but notable philosophers, their judgement may be extravagant. Try for yourself, Mr. Scoutmaster, get a text book or merely a key at 3 cents and the current number of Amerika Esperantisto, and see if within a week you can not read Esperanto fluently. The key contains practically the whole of Esperanto, scientific roots excepted.

*It took the writer six "years" of some 400 hours each to thoroly learn Latin, he has had occasion since to read perhaps 6 pages, to write and speak none. Of course, it has been helpful otherwise,—but did it pay?

Extracts from
THE BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT AND ESPERANTO
(in England)

By Scoutmaster N. Booth

In connection with the Scout Movement there are some fifty badges that a Scout can win and wear on his uniform. These badges represent a variety of subjects, so that boys of all tastes may find one or two of interest, and specialize in them.

The badges fall into the following groups:—Public Service, Handicrafts, and Hobbies—the ambulance, fire brigade work, rescuers, etc., coming under the first head; clerks, miners, masons, electricians, engineers, etc., under the second; and musicians, artists, entertainers, gardeners, masters-at-arms, etc., under the last. Quite recently the Interpreter's badge has been added to the Public Service Group, Headquarters officials realizing the importance of this badge. The test for same is that a Scout "must be able to carry on a conversation, write a simple letter of subject given by examiner, read and translate a passage from a book or newspaper, in either Esperanto or any language that is not that of his own country, and be able to carry on a conversation in the deaf and dumb alphabet, or be able to read and write Braille."

In most towns there are both Esperanto Societies and Boy Scout Troops. The former are anxious to increase numerically, whilst the latter are anxious, especially during present conditions, to secure instructors for the various badge subjects, and more particularly for the King Scout Badges, as every true Scout aims at securing this coveted decoration. Here is a splendid opportunity for Esperantists to do both themselves and the Scout movement a "good turn." Most Scout Troops at this time are entering on their winter program, and it is up to the Esperantists to offer their services as instructors for the Interpreter Badge now. The Scouts during the winter season should learn sufficiently to enable them to pass the examination for the badge, then they should be invited to join the Junior branch of the local group for further study, reading practice and social evenings; or the Troop itself could perhaps be formed into a sub-group of Juniors. Correspondence in the language with Oversea Scouts should be encouraged, and also membership with the new International Scouts Esperanto League. The Scouts in return could assist at Esperanto entertainments and conferences, etc., in various ways.

These remarks apply equally to the Girl Guides' Association.

We quote the above from the Esperanto Monthly for Nov. 1918.

La Skolta Esperantista Liga

The Esperanto idea has filtered into the midst of the Boy Scouts; and although, as a rule, boys do not learn for the sake of gaining knowledge but only under compulsion, yet the Scout training has so sharpened their wits that an increasing number of Scouts are now well on the way to becoming expert Esperantists.

It is for the purpose of binding together in bonds of brotherly harmony and helping those Scouts who are Esperantists that

The Scouts' Esperanto League has been formed. The idea of such a league occurred to an old Scout serving at the Front, and in his spare time he set forth his ideas on the subject in a booklet, entitled "Propono pri Skolta Esperantista Liga," which is now printed and on sale, price 4d., post free, from the Provisional Hon. Secretary, Mr. K. G. Thompson, 40 Oaklands Road, Bexleyheath, Kent, or from the B. E. A., 17 Hart Street, London, W. C. 1.

The utility of such a league for the spreading of the language among Scouts and Scout Officers (no inconsiderable part of the world's population nowadays) is too obvious to require repetition, and all who are willing to join in this great work are invited to secure the booklet, and to register their names with the Provisional Hon. Secretary.

By the terms of the treaty presented to the Germans by the Allied nations and the United States, there will be established a permanent organization to promote international adjustment of labor conditions, consisting of an annual labor conference and an international labor office. The latter will be established at the seat of the League of Nations as part of its organization, and is to collect and distribute information on labor throughout the world, prepare agenda for the conference, and publish a periodical which, presumably, will state conditions relative to labor, everywhere, to be in French and English, and possibly other languages.

The establishment of such an office is an immense step forward towards the aims of humanity, and Socialists and others who have long been striving for the recognition of principles which are here to be put into effect may well be pleased with the proposition. But to the Esperantist is presented an opportunity to do incalculable good, efficiently further propaganda, and make a showing of importance to the world. In short let one of the "other languages" be Esperanto: First, because of its internationality; Second, because it is already recognized by the Socialist organizations as the official language of internationalization; Third (but this reason should not be given too much publicity outside of Esperantio), that the publication of parallel columns of information, read throughout the globe, will be an automatic lernilo of tongues, not the least gain in which will be to the Esperanto, the simplest and most reasonable so published.

The first meeting of the conference taking place at Washington, in October, 1919, gives opportunity for every Esperantist to begin at once to agitate for the end outlined above. It can be done by writing your congressman, and two senators, urging the importance of the neutral international language, Esperanto, as one of the best means of reaching the intelligence of practically all nations.

LA DEK-DUA

Montreal July 9-13 inclusive

We have prepared a partial schedule of rates from central points in the United States and Canada for the information of those who anticipate attending the Congress. That the list is not complete, is because reports have not been received from some of the cities.

Ottawa, $7.70.

Quebec, $10.15.

Halifax, $27.70 plus 1% war tax.

Portland direct, $9.53 each way.

Boston direct, $19.52 round trip plus Pullman $3.24.

Washington via New York, $45.71 including Pullman.

Detroit (see below S.S. trips).

Kansas City, direct $73.65 plus war tax $5.89 plus Pullman $7.83.

San Francisco, $176.06 plus Pullman.

*Regina $104.90 plus Pullman (Lake route including meals and berth, $5.00 extra).

*Winnipeg, $85.80.

*Edmonton, $132.55.

*Vancouver, $201.00.

*Medicine Hat, $121.10.

For those coming from the west and south the Canadian Steamship lines would be glad to arrange a trip, leaving Toronto at 3.30 P. M. July 8th, down the Thousand Islands, thru the Rapids and down the St. Lawrence, arriving in Montreal at 6.15 Wednesday. Price $15.25 one way or $27.50 round trip including meals and berth.

More detailed information of this trip can be obtained through C. Leidich, International Travel Bureau, 69 West Fort St., Detroit, Mich., or the Detroit Esperanto Office, 507 Breitmeyer Building, Detroit. Get rates from your local ticket agencies to Detroit or Toronto. From Detroit routing via Niagara Falls.

The party from Boston expects to leave at 9.00 A. M. Wednesday, July 9th, arriving in Montreal that evening about 8 o'clock.

The New York party if leaving at 8.00 A. M., Wednesday, July 9th, would arrive the same night; if going by Lake Champlain, they would start Tuesday morning as noted below.

For those wishing to go via Lake Champlain, a trip could be arranged leaving New York Tuesday morning via Albany to Lake George, stopping at the Fort William Henry Hotel Tuesday night and taking steamer up Lake Champlain Wednesday to Plattsburg, thence by rail to Montreal arriving that night; this would cost approximately $10.00 extra.

For particulars of the Boston and New York groups write to Miss E. J. Meriam, The Esperanto Office, West Newton, Mass.

*Tickets are good for 60 days. Liberal stopovers.

*For further information regarding party from W. Canada or Alaska write to C. H. Crossman, Lipton, Saskatchewan, Canada.

A Post Kongreso trip to Quebec would leave Montreal Sunday or Monday at 7 P. M., arriving in Quebec at 6.30 A. M., spending the day in Quebec and returning Monday night, arriving in Montreal Tuesday morning. Round trip for ten or more in the party would be $12.00 including dinners Sunday and Monday nights on the boat and berths.

This trip can be continued by leaving Quebec the next morning at 8 o'clock up the Saguenay and returning the following day. The round trip would be $20.52; if 10 or more in the party would be $16.00. This would not include the over night stay at the hotels in Quebec and Chicoutini.

Other trips can be arranged in Montreal for those who wish to remain after the Congress.

The Congress Program in general is as follows:—

Arrive in Montreal—Wednesday.

Thursday Morning—Akceptado 10 to 11-30.

—Business, 11.30 to 1.00.

Afternoon—Trip up the Lachine Rapids.

Evening—Business, committee meetings, etc.

Friday Morning—Business; Revision of Constitution.

Afternoon—Trip up Mount Royal.

Evening—Public Propaganda Meeting.

Saturday Morning—Business Session, election of officers, etc.

Afternoon—Unfinished business, sight seeing trips, etc.

Evening—Reception and dramatics.

Sunday—Program to be announced later.

Congress Tickets will be $3.00: this includes Congress Badge admitting to all meetings, the Lachine Rapids, Mount Royal and sight seeing trips.

Headquarters at the Corona Hotel, where the business meetings are to be held. Hotel rates $2.00 per day single room, $3.00 double room; with bath $2.50 for single rooms and upwards.

Accommodations can also be obtained at the Windsor or St Regis hotel if preferred.

There are ample moderate priced restaurants for those who do not care for the hotel table.

We have given these rates as received, but they should be verified at your local office. A general circular will be issued by June 20th, but applications for Congress tickets and hotel reservations may be sent in immediately. Address:

The Common Commercial Language Committee of the U. S., working in harmony with similar Committees abroad and with other recognized Esperanto organizations, both at home and abroad, offers the following services:

1. Translation of catalogues, price lists and other advertising matter into Esperanto.
2. Systematic circulation of the above in any land or lands desired, either among Esperantists generally, or according to any selective system preferred.
3. Securing the translation of such advertising matter into any language by our agents in the country concerned, and its distribution generally or to any class of persons.
4. Preparation in Esperanto of said advertisements to be retranslated and inserted in the language of any country in any class of publications in that country to any extent desired. Full arrangements for the placing of such advertisements.
5. Translation into English of Esperanto documents from other countries.
6. Translation into English, by means of Esperanto, of documents in any language, through our agents in the country using such language. Searching out and securing documents of any kind desired on any subject connected with commercial affairs, and their translation as stated.
7. Securing agents or correspondents in any country or countries and in any line of business.
8. Translating business letters to any country into Esperanto and sending to our agent there to retranslate into the language of that country and deliver to the addressee.
9. Translating into English Esperanto letters received.

Anekduto (page 61)

Unu generalo volis rigardi kiel oni nutras la soldatojn. Neatendite li venas en la soldatan kuirejon. Sur la korto li renkontas du soldatojn, kiuj portas kaldronon.—Haltu! li ordonas: alportu kuleron!—Sed, Via Generala Mošto....komencas la alkurinta adjutanto....—Silentu! krias la generalo. Li prenas kuleron.—Levu la kovrilon! Lia ordono estas plenumata. Li ĉerpas per la kulero la fluidajon, provas kaj kun abomeno kraĉas.—Kio tio ĉi estas? ĝi estas tia supo? ĝi estas kotajo!—Jes, Via Generala Mošto, murmuretas la timigita adjutanto, mi tion ĉi ja volis diri al vi.

Notes

Unu, see note on Oct. anekduto.—Dist. the noun generalo and the adj. generala. Can you give the Esp. equivalents of military rank from “private” (simpla soldato) to “general”?—Voli=lit. “to will,” deziri =“to wish,” but voli is often used loosely for the latter.—With rigardi, “to look at” cp. vidi. “to see.” As in the national tongues, closely related synonyms are apt to be loosely interchanged.—A synonym of nutri is mangigi, “to feed.”—How does oni differ from ili?—Is kuirejon accusative on account of the preposition en? If not, why?—Sur la korto, we would say “in the yard,” but Zamenhof uses the more logical preposition.—Kaldrono, “a kettle” (Cp. Ekz. 25, 29) may also =a “boiler,” as F. K. p. 214.—Porti is “to carry,” alporti “to bring” or “fetch.”—How does ordoni differ from mendi? ordono from ordeno? from ordo?—Note that the colon (dupunkto) and the semicolon (punktokomo) have precisely the same use in Esp. as in Eng. The use of quotation marks, or rather, their omission, was explained in Oct. notes. In lieu of quotation marks each speech is usually set off by dashes. On the other hand, note that a “broken sentence,” which in Eng. would end with a dash, is in the F. K. followed by repeated full stops. For the general subject of punctuation see Note in our October number.—Kuleron, what are “knife and fork”?—Via Generala Mošto, “Your Excellency” or simply “General.” Mošto is a colorless title of respect (derived from the Polish), which is only rendered precise by the accompanying adjective. Translate: Via Reĝa Mošto, Via Episkopa Mošto, Via Grafa Mošto (Ekz. 42). .Alkurinta: note the precision and conciseness of the participial construction (characteristic of good Esp.) ; in Eng. we have to render with a clause: “Who had run up.”—adjutanto, broader than Eng. “adjutant,” here = “aide.” — kovrilo: there is a distinction in classical usage between kovrilo and kovro. A natural covering, as the sky, foliage, etc., takes the simple word kovro, while any manufactured cover takes the more logical and technical kovrilo. Thus in one of Zamenhof’s most beautiful tales, “La Infano en la Tombo," the coffin cover is kovrilo, while the earthy cover of the grave is kovro. — estas plenumata, note tense of the participle: "is fulfilled" (present); whereas estas plenumita would = "has been fulfilled" (perfect). — Cerpi = "to draw (from a supply of any kind)"; tiri = to pull. — fluidajon, to an Eng. eye -aj seems superfluous; but Zamenhof derives the noun from the adjective fluida, as altaĵo is formed from alta, etc. — provas, one of the infrequent instances of the use of the verb in its primary sense of "to test" (here better rendered "tastes"). — Li ĉerpas....kraĉas, "He draws off some of the liquid tastes (IT) and spits (IT) out." Note how Eng. idiom requires the pronouns, while the compacter Esp. is without them, provas and kraĉas retaining the noun fluidajon as object. — Abomeno, "utter disgust," a stronger word than naŭzo. — kotajo: how does it differ from koto? (Cp. dist. between acido and acidajo in Ekz. sek. 35). — murmuretas, note the color of extreme trepidation which -et gives the word (do not render "whisper"). — Any difference betw. timigita and terurita? — mi tion ĉi ja volis diri al vi, "that's just what I wanted to tell you." Note the idiomatic turn that ja generally gives to a sentence, and cp. note on Oct. anekdoto and text in re.

Exercises

(Using only roots in the Anekduto and Notes, and the Ekzercaro)

La generala kuirejo sin trovas malproksime de la ĝeneralaj soldatoj. — Kvankam generalo, li vivas kiel simpla soldato. — Voli estas pli grave ol deziri. Oni ofte ekdeziras, ne havante la volon por plenumi la deziron. — Kion vi deziras? Mi nenion volas. — Mi rigardadis longe, sed mi nenion vidis. — Mi vidis kiel oni manĝigis la ĉevalojn. Oni manĝigis al ili frešan herbon. — Tiuj homoj estas terure malsagaj; oni scias, ke la tero sin movas, sed ili tion ne kredas. — La generalo venas sur la korton. Sur la korto li haltas. — La kaldronoj de la ŝipo elirigas vaporon — Alportu al mi supon, sed portu ĝin zorge. — Mi ordonis mendi la komercajon; la ordono estis plenumata, sed ne la mendo. — En ordo staris la anoj le l' ordeno por ricevi la ordonojn de sia estro. — Renkontis la revenantajn soldatojn la moŝtoj de la urbo. — "Ne kulpa, via moŝto," kriis la arrestito. — La adjutantaron de generalo oni nomas "stabo." — Sub kovro de bela arbo mi demetas la kovrilon de la mangajujo. — Ĉu via laboro estas farita? Ne, sinjoro, ĝi estas farata. — Tirinte al mi la monskatolon, mi ĉerpis el ĝi sufice por pagi la ŝuldon. — En sia artikolo la verkinto ĉerpis multajn ekzemplojn el la uzado de Zamenhof. — Mi provis la ŝtonon kaj trovis ĝin diamanto. — Malsagulo naskas naŭzon, sed malbonulo naskas abomenon. — La homo estas polvajo. — Kiam la dangero pli kaj pli alproksimiĝis, sia timo fariĝis teruro. — Pardonu, ĉu vi estas S-ro Smith? — Jes. — Mi vin ja volis vidi.

Ie en Francujo, en hotelmanĝejo, sur afișego metita super la fajrejo, oni nun povas legi la sekvantan:—

"Anglaj oficiroj kaj iliaj amikoj estas ĝentile petataj alparoli al la kelneroj en la angla lingvo, ĉar ilia franca tute ne estas komprenebla."

— Esperanto Monthly.

A— Ĉu vi ne drinkadas nun iom pli multe ol kutime?

B— Jes; mia edzino suferas pro katastro, kaj ŝi ne povas flari eĉ iometon.

FOR THE ADVANCED STUDENT

This and the following exercises are designed to help the more or less advanced student. It is hoped that class leaders and teachers as well as isolated Esperantists, may find something helpful herein. The best translations received will be published in the second succeeding number of A. E. Translations into English from abroad, if accompanied by return postage will be specially corrected and returned.

If in your opinion this fills a real need, let us know; that we may make it a permanent feature of Amerika Esperantisto. —I. M. H.

TRADUKU ANGLE

"En la jaro 1878 al mi ŝajnis, ke estas por la lingvo sufice havi gramatikon kaj vortaron; la multepezecon kaj malgraciecon de la lingvo mi alskribadis nur al tio, ke mi ankoraŭ ne sufice bone ĝin possedas; sed la praktiko ĉiam pli kaj pli konvinkadis min, ke la lingvo bezonas ankoraŭ ian nekapteblan 'ion', la kunligantan elementon, donantan al la lingvo vivon kaj difinitan, tute formitan 'spiriton'.

"La nesciado de la spirito de la lingvo estas la kaŭzo, kial kelkaj Esperantistoj, tre malmulte legintaj en la lingvo Esperanto, skribas senerare, sed per multepeza, malagrabla stilo—dume la Esperantistoj pli spertaj skribas per la stilo bona kaj tute egala, al kiu ajn nacio ili apartenas. La spirito de la lingvo sendube kun la tempo multe, kvankam iom post iom kaj nerimarkite, ŝanĝiĝos; sed se la unuaj Esperantistoj, homoj de diversaj nacioj, ne renkontus en la lingvo tute difinitan fundamentan spiriton, ĉiu komencus tiri en sian flankon kaj la lingvo restus eterne aŭ almenaŭ dum tre longa tempo, malgracia kaj senviva kolekto da vortoj. Mi komencis tiam evitadi laŭ-vortajn tradukojn el tiu aŭ alia lingvo kaj penis rekte pensi en la lingvo neŭtrala. Poste mi rimarkis, ke la lingvo en miaj manoj ĉesas jam esti senfundamenta ombro de tiu aŭ alia lingvo, kun kiu mi havas la aferon en tiu aŭ alia minuto, kaj ricevas sian propran spiriton, sian propran vivon, la propran difinitan kaj klare esprimitan fizionomion, ne dependantan jam de iaj influoj. La parolo fluis jam mem, flekseble, gracie kaj tute libere, kiel la viva gepatra lingvo."

KATOLIKOJ ĈIULANDAJ !

Al la Katolikoj de la tuta mondo hodiaŭ ni sendas nian kredfratan saluton! Kvin jarojn la ondoj de la malamo trairis la landojn, triumfis la malhelaj potenco de arroganta perforto kaj de nuda egoismo. Siritaj estis la ligiloj kiuj kuntenadis nin, ofte forgesita estis la vero ke ni estas fratoj en unu kredo kaj filoj de unu Patro.

La malnova mondo malaperis. Starante ĉe la sojlo de la nova periodo, ni volas prezenti la fratmanon al la samreligianoj de la tuta tero kaj peti ilin: Forgesu vi ĉion kio estas malantaŭen de ni, kaj kunhelpu vi starigi la novan mondron en la katolika spirito, en la spirito de paco, de reamikiĝo, de amo.

Cu vi postrestus nun, kiam ĉiuj unuiĝas kaj alvokas al internacia kuniĝo: nun kiam liberpensuloj, socialistoj, protestantistoj kaj malnov-katolikoj kuniĝas, cu nun ni, kiujn kunligas la plej intima sento, restus neunuiĝitaj en malkrista blindeco kaj malkonfeso de la unuaj principoj de nia kredo?

En 1916 kaj 1917 ni estas admonintaj por paco kaj amo, sed en la brujo de naciaj pasioj la alvoko perdigis neaŭdite. Nia Pac-papo Benedikto XVa montris al ni la vojon. Almenaŭ hodiaŭ aŭdu ni lian vokon! Legu tion kion lia papa Mosto la 1an de Decembro 1918 diris en la ensikliko pri la tiام proksima packongreso: "Tial ke kun la decidoj la feliĉo de la tuta homaro estas kunligata en la plej intima maniero, la Katolikoj havas kiel plej sanktan konsciencdevon petegi por la packongresanoj la dian helpon. Tiun neceson ni devas memorigi al ĉiuj Katolikoj, por ke, kiel frukto de la nun komenconta kongreso, tiu nemezurebla cieldonaco de vera, sur la principoj de justeco fondata paco rezultu. Ni, de nia flanko, kiel anstataŭanto de Jesuo Kristo, la pacregô, Ni uzos tutan nian influon por ke la decidoj, kiuj alportos al la mondo daŭran kvieton, ordon kaj harmonion, ĉie de la Katolikoj volonte estu akceptataj kaj fidele plenumataj.

Katolikoj! La voĉo de la Anstataŭanto de Kristo ne estu plu la voĉo de la "krianto en la dezerto"! Propagandu la amon, la reamikiĝon kie ajn kaj kiam ajn vi povos, parole kaj skribante, en viaj personaj rilatoj, en la kunvenoj, ligoj kaj kongresoj.

Malhela estas por ni la estonto. Kristo estas la ununura savonto de la popoloj. Montru ni novan venkontan programon. Gi ne povas esti alia ol: Kristo hieraŭ, hodiaŭ kaj en eterno! Kristo kiel savonto de la nuna tempo kun ĉiuj ĝiaj mizeroj! Kristo kiel anoncanto de la gaja sciigo de popolakordo, de klas-reamikiĝo, de solidara helpo, de ĉion renoviganta moralaj forteto per Sia spirito! Kristo kiel la venkonto de la malhela perfortpotenco, kiun la mondmito kondamnis tiel terure, Kristo kiel venkonto de mamonismo kaj kapitalismo, de aŭtokratismo kaj militarismo kaj de ĉio kio estas malamiko de popolfeliĉo.

Trans la limoj de landoj kaj ŝtatoj ni prezentas al vi la manon en la spirito de nia Sinjoro kaj Majstro Jesuo Kristo kaj de Lia Anstataŭanto, la papa Mošto.

BOSTONO

Sabaton, Majo 31an, la dua de la 5aj Sabatoj la Bostonia Esperanta Societo kunvenis ĉe sia prezidanto, S-ro G. W. Lee, 51 Chestnut Hill Ave., Brookline.

La festo komencis en babilo kaj akceptado de anoj kaj amikoj novaj kaj malnovaj. Sekvis vespermanĝo je la 7a, ĉiu ĉeestanto donacinta ion al la kunmanĝajaro. La gastiganto aldonis el sia ĝardeno laktukon, rafanon, rabarbon, ankaŭ kafon, kakaon, teon, k.t.p. Kiam oni ne povis pli manĝi oni babilis aŭ Esperante aŭ Angle. Oni aŭdis ĉiuflanke, demandon, deziron, aŭ decidon iri al kongreso.

La belega ruĝa suno subiras en densa varmeca nubo rekte kontraŭ la sur la verando sidantaj samideanoj. Venas stelo. Dum la krepusko oni aŭskultas la saĝajn vortojn de D-ro Lowell sciigantajn pri la nesciaj vanoj de kritikuloj, la superiganta vero, la neduba estonto de Esperanto. Por la amikoj Prez. Lee tradukis Anglen kaj mem priparolis novajn eldonajojn. Ekveninte la 10, la kunveno disiĝis kun renovigita babilado.

La kunvenon vizitis membro de la Itala aeroplanistaro, kej kelkaj aliaj ne-ĉis-nun-Esperantistoj. Ĉeestis 20-25 anoj.

“NE ESTU TROMPATAJ”

Gefratoj! Ho, miaj gefratoj!
Ne kuru sunon sek�ante.
Ne aliru al la luno bonvenante.
La suno, la luno.
Senestimaj estas nur.
Oni vidas ke—
Nur virinoj kaj knabetoj
La sunon vidante foriras.
Kaj nur frenezuloj, knabinoj
La lunon vidante kuŝiĝas.
Ho! gefratoj miaj!
Estas ja ĉiuj estajoj
Simple estajoj: nek belo, nek bono.
Nur estajoj.

OUR EXCHANGES

We have received at this office a number of Esperanto and other periodicals, not hitherto acknowledged, in which we note the following valuable articles (those in Esperanto in boldface type):

Most of Argentina Esperanto, Jan.-Feb., Esperanto Finnlando, Dec., and Literaturo, Jan.-Mar., should have been printed in bold-face, as they were in excellent Esperanto.

Bulteno de la Kataluna E. Fed.—Jan.-Feb.—convention Jan. 12 in Barcelona; the girl's piano, Esperanto in commerce; chronicle.

Esperanto—Mar.—The eight hour day; the Tatars (hist.) Gypsy life; Danish international fellowship foundation; Dostoevski's Eagle.

Esperanto-Finlando—March—Invitation to 5th congress; Esp. office founded at Mikonk 23, Helsingfors; Lehtimaki's Goodbye; also How I would want to live and to die, and The Calm Sea; notes chronicle; booklist; lessons, etc.

La Espero—Mar.—a policeman's testimony; Nordenskjold's Swedish South Polar Expedition of 1901-3; chronicle; Esperanto's service in the reconstruction of business relations.

La Bataille—Mar. 13—commercial Esperanto course beginning in this, the trade unionist organ of Paris.

Esperanto Monthly—Mar.—Business course, cont.; English as the international language; spring poetry; Esperanto in Lille.

Esperanto Monthly—April—Welsh number; Wales and Esperanto; Cadog the Sage; Jack Jones' hat; extracts from Lloyd George; Welsh poetry, translated; business letters; exercises.

France-Esperanto—Mar.-April—Our dead; Zamenhof and his work; Koranic commentary; exchanges, press notices, etc. Also a booklet by M. Rollet de L'Isle "the Strongest Guarantee of the League of Nations."

British Esperantist—March—Peace thank offering fund for Esperanto; chronicle; Ribbek of Ribbek.

British Esperantist—April—Esp. and the Society of Nations; letter from Canada; the Child in the Tomb; chronicle; program of Liverpool B. E. A. Congress, June 6-10; annual reports; book list.

British Esperantist—May—Congress program, chronicle, noteworthy account of the competition by Esperanto scholars in Manchester, Australian E. Conference of Oct. 21-23 at Melbourne, books and exchanges. We wish we, too, could list over 100 federated societies on our cover.

Holanda Pioniro—Mar.-Apr.—Unlucky Voyage of the Hertog Henrik; report of Convention, Jan. 26; membership address list of "La Estonto estas Nia"; group news.

Nederlanda Katoliko—Mar.-April—Esp. at the Peace Conference; Business Congress at Rotterdam Aug. 24. home chronicle; report of Hertogenbosch convention of Feb. 12, foreign news, bibliography.

Le Monde Esperantiste—Mar.-Apr.—review of Meillet's Tongues of New Europe; Tolstoy's War Tales; Byron's Cain.

Esperanto, B.B.—April—A.E.A. revision of constitution; school Esperanto; notes; Petronio; exchanges, E. in Montevideo; E. and the blind.

Eklezia Revuo—April—request for articles from all churches; church news; to Heaven thou art gone; Dedication; church of Norway Church Missions, church of Scotland, Pickwick on Skates, 3 letters of Charles Lamb, Ekl. Esp. League notes.

World Salesman—May—Siberian boom, Free Trade, Japanese Bicycles; Swiss exports, Norway, Dutch E. Indies trade, World's money system, Vladivostock, Russian, Spanish, Japanese, Chinese and Esperanto sections.

Teknika Revuo—Mar.-April—Cancer; the most populous region in the world (Boston to Washington); artificial leather; International Societies as united at Central Office; League to Enforce Peace.

This number, we are able to review in boldface but we regret to print the following—al niaj abonintoj kaj al ĉiuj mondlingvanoj!

Antaŭ unu jaro la redakcio de Teknika Revuo promesis eldoni ĝin en Esperanto Zamenhofa, kondiĉe ke la nombro de la abonantoj atingos almenaŭ 500 je la 1a de Januaro 1919. Nun proksimiĝas la fino de la abonjaro (1a de Julio 1919), kaj la abonintoj estas ĝis nun nur 320, nombro nesufiĉa por pagi la kostojn de la preso kaj eldono. La redakcio do avertas la legantojn, ke je la unua de Julio ĝi reprenos sian liberon koncerne la pluan eldonon de T. R. aŭ koncerne la lingvon uzotan en ĝi. La abonintoj, kiuj opinias ke T. R. ne uzis lingvon sufice laŭfundamentan dum tiu ĉi jaro, adresu sin al la Administro de T. R., kiu repagos al ili la abonmonon.

OFFICE NOTES

After many months Amerika Esperantisto is again appearing on time. To celebrate the achievement we shall, according to our custom, combine the July and August issues into one number which will be in the mail early in August, and will contain a full account of the Montreal Congress. You will need some extra copies of this number for distribution among your friends. Order early, as we must know how many extra copies to print. 5 cents each in quantities of 5 or more.

* * * * *

We would like some more copy, preferably scientific articles.

* * * * *

The idea has lately been exploited somewhat that all children learn three languages: English, French and German. If one realizes that not less than seven years of schooling are needed to thoroly learn one's native tongue, not less than five for fluency in reading, writing and speaking the first foreign tongue, and three for the next, it is a little difficult to imagine when the ordinary boy or girl, say in Japan or India, will find time (or food) to eat. No, this is not a solution but merely an attempt to escape the inevitable logic that like a whirlpool is drawing all men to Esperanto.

* * * * *

(To a familiar tune)

Heed the call
One and all
To Montreal,
Where the beaming beavers
Wait to receive us
And the green maples wave
Above us all.

Great or small
Fat or tall
Heed the call
Oh! there is no border
For the green star order
Esperantists, we'll come
Home to Montreal.

HERBERT HARRIS

Just as this number of the magazine goes to press, we have received news that will carry sadness to the hearts of us all.

Herbert Harris, one of our most zealous and constant samideanoj, whose leadership has never wavered since he first took up Esperanto in 1906, died Sunday, June 8, in Chicago. Aflame with the ideal and in turn firing others, he made Esperanto his life work, laying down his dearest interest, music, and all other conflicting occupations, for our Cause. We shall miss him at Montreal, but he will be with us in spirit.
